tionists to concentrate all their power at that port and make a grand concerted effort to wrest Valparaiso from the hands

This plan looks feasible, inasmuch as the northern provinces have sided with the revolutionaries. Heavy guns which have lain idle in the island towns and out-of-the-way places are being brought to the city, and torpedo launchers are being prepared as rapidly as possible. The sudden appearance of a business town and its rapidly assuming a most warlike appearance. In my next letter I fear that it will be my duty to give the details of a bombardment exceeding very far the bombardment of Coronei and Piasqua.

On the 22nd inst there was a financial panic at Valpurga. A rumor was started that the Government had decided to close Valpurga and National banks. This rumor spread rapidly, and soon there was a long line of depositors at the doors of each bank clamoring for their money. The rumor was untrue, and in a few minutes it will be many months before confidence will be restored in these two banks.

Paris, March 30.—Official advices from the Government of the United States now occupy Patal, Aquino and Piasqua, and the rest of the country is quiet. These advices also state that the Government is concentrating its troops on the borders of the United States.

London, March 19.—Colonel Cooper, who made himself famous as the organizer of ton died at 7:10 o'clock this evening. Abbe Pajol, it is announced, previous to the Prince's death administered the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic church to the dying Prince, in the presence of the other physicians in attendance. Dr. Baccell informed King Humbert that the end was near. The last agony soon followed. Prince Louis died at 7:25 o'clock, and the reason why his father was dying, but was so overcome with emotion that he left the apartment, sobbing violently. The funeral will be conducted with religious ceremonies.

The interment of the body of the Prince was deferred until the morning. The royal mausoleum near Turin. Abbe Pajol says that the dying man told him he did not profess the atheistic sentiments attributed to him by the press. He was a devout Roman Catholic, and would die like

An Emperor addressing to the principles & the religion of the Concordat, and imbued with the religious sentiments of the Bonapartes.

On March 20th, Napoleon Bonaparte, at Rome continued the same Panegyric before the Senate, declaring that Prince Napoleon was unconscious when the sacrament of extreme unction was administered to him.

The Roman pontifical conductors, meeting on the death of Prince Napoleon, dealt severely with the attendant circumstances of the death scene. He says: "The religious fanaticism and human ambition which had prolonged for a fortnight a life otherwise ended long ago. The church and throne disputed for possession of the body of the emperor, each desirous to convert into trophy. Egotism on one side and thine."

counsellor King Humbert on the dangers the Desirobund to the House of Savoy and to advocate the plan of the Duchesse de Nemours, the Princess of Orange, the Princess Helene of Orange instead of Princess Letitia, whom the Duchesse destined for the Duc d'Orleans. Prince Napoleon gave copies of his will and of the letter to the Emperor to the Emperor to prevent tampering, and ordered that the memoirs should not be published during the lifetime of the ex-Empress Eugenie. The Abbe Fauriol administered extreme unction to King Humbert to give him the Prince a state funeral.

Prince Napoleon's memoirs establish, written evidence, the fact that he never did agree with Napoleon III, even on the subject of the Italian campaign, and that, in truth; that he always remained a French
